

GAETANO PESCE & BOTTEGA VENETA

NEW GAETANO PESCE PROJECT

Dear friends,

We are happy to share Gaetano Pesce's most recent project with you! The Architect created a colorful resin-covered floor and designed 400 cotton-and-resin chairs for fashion brand Bottega Veneta's Spring Summer 2023 show in Milan.

The set was commissioned by Bottega Veneta creative director Matthieu Blazy, who presented his second collection for the house at Milan Fashion Week on September 24th.

Named 'Come Stai?', the Pesce-designed chairs filled the Milanese building and followed the sculptural shapes of the floor that marked the runway in tones of pink, blue, orange, and lilac.

"This space is a tribute to diversity, it is about the human being; we are all different. People who say we are all the same - f them!"

"We are all different and this is our defining quality - otherwise, we are just a copy. We are all originals and this is one of the themes of my design."
